

CHICKEN STRIPS

One day Alex, Toby, Jacob, and Jordan went to chicken bomb strips. They where at a table but Alex asked for a booth. So they got comfortable and they ordered everything Jacob ordered a 20 piece c she is going to eat some chicken strips to.

Jordan did not order anything because she is just going to eat what they ordered. So they were all playing this card game called speed while they were waiting for there food. But they had to wash there hands befohicken strip for the whole squad. Toby ordered a large frie with lemon bars and a "BIG HUGE COOKIE". Alex ordered just a small frie butre they ate. So they came back to there booth and the food was there. Alex said the blessing and digged in. Jacob said I am so hungry but I am filling my mouth with some good chicken strips.

They were crunching and munching until the last chicken strip was in that basket. All of them wanted it but only one could have it. They were arguing and fighting and all talking at once just for that last chicken "STRIP".

Jordan says we should to rock paper cizzorz. Toby says we should to bubble gum bubble gum in a ditch. Alex says we should just order another fresh batch of chicken strips but nobody wants to pay for another batch of chicken strips. Jacob says we should do not it to solve this problem.

The last chicken strip was just getting colder and colder by the minute. But the waitress came up to them and said you guys have been here for a long time. Toby said just a few more thank you. So they were still talk about it for like ten minutes until Jordan said let's just split it.....TO BE
