

The Makeover

By: Arjana Lamichhane

As Lyra was walking to class, she heard someone calling her name. "Hey ugly, where you going? Let me guess, the dumpster!?" It was Shon, the school bully. He always made fun of her because she was ugly. "Well you won't be calling me ugly any more." Lyra said under her breath. She had a plan. She was going to the mall after school since it was a Friday. She and her cousin, Nora, were going so they could get all pretty. Her cousin was going to get more makeup, and Lyra was going to learn how to do her makeup and get some herself.

At the mall...

Lyra was getting her makeup done by one of the workers at the mall and while she was getting it done, the worker was giving her tips and tricks to do her everyday makeup. "All done!" said the worker. Lyra looked in the mirror and didn't even recognize herself. She was so shocked. She then smirked and said "Wait until the boys see me at school. They will be so surprised to see me."

On Monday morning at school.....

Lyra's p.o.v

Why is everyone staring at me? Oh yeah... I had a makeover. I feel so weird, i'm not used to this. Oh whatever. I just want to see Shon's face when he sees me.

Dang, that girl is fine. I'm going to ask her out. But wait, she looks kind of familiar. Is that Lyra?! No... it can't be... right? I'm still going to ask her out.

"Hey girl." "Hi." "I spotted you from across the hall and I thought you were beautiful. So I'm wondering, do you wanna go out?" Lyra smirked and said "Sure." "Great! Just give me your name and number." After she gave him her number, she smiled. She was about to leave when Shon said "Wait! What's your name?" She looked back and said "Lyra." And she walked away, leaving him there, with a very shocked face.

I was so shocked to hear that it was Lyra, the same Lyra that I bullied. "I'm so stupid." I said under my breath. "Why did I have to bully her? Because she was ugly. Now she is so pretty and I really want to go on a date with her. I guess that's not going to happen now." I said as I went to class.
