

Nsom Ngwainbi Houston were summer

We were approaching Texas in a city called Houston once we landed we went straight to the waterpark we all went in the pool for a while me and my sister went to this current of water that took you out side we both decided to swim with rafts but I lost mine after i went under the current of water. While my sister just fell out of hers. After, we went to a tall water slide which was funny because my raft got stuck in it.

We went Around looking for fun rides but found none so we went outside to see if anything other fun rides there was three different rides that you could go on i went in the second one and then we went home.
